

ONE PERSON COMPANY- OVERVIEW

Section 2 (20) of the Companies Act, 2013 defines a company as “A company incorporated under this Act or under any previous company law.”

Section 2 (62) of the Companies Act, 2013 defines One Person Company as “A company which has only one person as a member.”

SIMPLE GUIDE TO UNDERSTAND ABOUT ONE PERSON COMPANY (OPC):

- Only a Natural Person who is an Indian citizen (whether resident or otherwise)* shall be eligible to incorporate an One Person Company;

*NOTE: Prior to 01-04-2021, only a natural person who is an Indian citizen and resident in India could incorporate an OPC. This relaxation has been made by Companies (Incorporation) Second Amendment Rules, 2021.

- There can be a natural person who is a citizen of India appointed as Nominee of the person who is constituting the One Person Company;

*NOTE: Prior to 01-04-2021, the requirement was that the Nominee shall be resident of India. Effective from 01-04-2021 the Nominee could be a resident of India or otherwise.

- “RESIDENT IN INDIA” shall mean a person who has stayed in India for a period of not less than 120 days* during the immediately preceding one calendar year.

*NOTE: Prior to 27.07.2018, the above period of stay was 182 days. This condition has been relaxed through the Companies (Incorporation) Third Amendment Rules, 2018 with effect from 27.07.2018.

- An OPC cannot carry out non-Banking financial investment activities including investment in securities of any Body Corporate.

INC-3.

UNLOCKING THE BENEFITS: Advantages of Establishing a One Person Company (OPC)

From Layman point of view, a question arises that why should we incorporate One Person Company whether we get any benefits or any sought of exemptions by incorporating it.

- ❖ The Concept of One Person Company was introduced to get the Business manner and business culture organized instead of unorganized business culture being inherently followed previously.
- ❖ Before the introduction of One Person Company (OPC) structure, majority of business organizations were often closely held, meaning they were owned and operated by a single owner. The OPC framework provides a legal structure that allows a single person to own and manage a company, providing flexibility for small businesses and entrepreneurs.
- ❖ Absolutely, the One Person Company (OPC) structure can indeed serve as a stepping stone for first-generation entrepreneurs, especially within family business. It provides a formalized and organized framework for solo entrepreneurs, making it easier for them to establish and operate their businesses.
- ❖ Moreover, the successful implementation of OPC can set a precedent and act as a guiding influence for subsequent generations, encouraging the adoption of a more structured and corporate culture in the family business.
- ❖ Thus, following are some advantages / Benefits of One Person Company:

NO STATUTORY REQUIREMENT OF HOLDING AGM

Section 96 of the Companies Act, 2013, provides that every company, other than an OPC, is required to hold an Annual General Meeting (AGM) every year.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP AND OPC

PARTICULARS	SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP	OPC
Registration	No registration mandate	Must be registered under the Companies Act, 2013
Legal Status	No separate legal status	Has a separate legal status
Members Liability	Owner has unlimited liability	Shareholder has limited liability
Nominee	Nominee is not required	Requires a minimum of one nominee

Directors	No directors required	Minimum of one director is mandatory
Foreign Ownership	Not allowed	Allowed when one is the director and the other is the nominee
Transferability	Cannot be transferred	Can be transferred to the nominee
Survival	Comes to an end upon the death or retirement of the sole proprietor	Will continue upon the member's death
Annual Filings	Filing of ITR only	ROC and ITR filings are necessary
Audit	Not Compulsory for Sole proprietorship to get its account audited But depends upon the limit of turnover which may attract Income tax Audit under Income Tax Act, 1961.	It is compulsory for an OPC to get its accounts audited every year as per Companies Act, 2013 and Income tax Audit may also applicable subject to limit of turnover as per Income Tax Act, 1961.

- ❖ OPC can be a good option for small businesses and entrepreneurs who want limited liability and the benefits of a corporate structure while being the sole owner of the company. It provides a separate legal entity, perpetual succession, and limited liability to the owner.
- ❖ OPC is taxed as a separate legal entity, and its income is subject to corporate tax. The tax rate for OPCs is determined based on the applicable tax laws and the company's income. An OPC can engage in any lawful business or activity, subject to the restrictions and regulations applicable to the specific industry or sector.

COMPLIANCES OF ONE PERSON COMPANY

COMPLIANCES OF OPC
S.NO.	EVENTS	DUE DATE AND PARTICULARS
1	Board Meeting	At least one Board of Director meeting to be held in each half of calendar year and the gap between the two meetings shall not be less than 90 days. 7 days prior notice of Board Meeting (Date of sending the notice and date of meeting should be excluded);

		Notice (including Shorter Notice shall be given in case OPC have more than one Director);
		Provisions relating to quorum for meeting of Board and Notice (including shorter notice) shall not apply to OPC in which there is only one director on its board of Directors;
2	Filing	Form MBP-1 (Notice of Director's interest ) should be filed by Director's at first Board Meeting of every year or whenever there is any change in disclosure; Form DIR-8 (Notice of Director's qualification) should be filed by Director's in Board Meeting. E-Form AOC-4 is to be filed within 180 days from the closure of financial year; Hence, due date is 30th September. E-form MGT-7A is to be filed within 180 days from the closure of financial year; Hence, due date is 30th September.

SKIP THE HASSLE: One Person Company Registration Made Easier With These Exemptions

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE EXEMPTIONS FOR AN OPC IN INDIA:

- An OPC has no obligation to prepare a cash flow statement as a part of the financial statement.
- The annual return can be certified by the director of the company if an OPC does not have a Company Secretary.
- A One Person Company (OPC) is not obligated to hold an annual general meeting; A One Person Company is exempted from holding the Annual General Meeting of the company. As there is only one director for a One Person Company, compliance with the provisions of conducting the board meetings is impossible and is therefore granted an exemption.
- Unlike Private Limited Company, the One Person Company (OPC) requires only one director to run or manage the company but the maximum limit for directors is 15. This relaxation is available only to One Person Company since every other type of company requires a minimum number of two directors.

- One Person Company, like Private Limited Company, does not require holding 4 board meetings. An OPC may hold only 2 board meetings if such company has more than one director, each meeting to be held in each half of the calendar year with a minimum gap of 90 days between the two meetings.
- It is compulsory for an OPC to get its accounts audited every year. But here is an exemption given to One Person Company with regards to Internal financial Control as it is not a mandatory part in Audit Report with reference to financial statements and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2016 not applicable on One Person Company (OPC).

CONCLUSION:

From reading and observing about One Person Company (OPC) it was concluded at the end:

- ❖ The One Person Company has a separate legal identity and existence from its shareholders. This would encourage entrepreneurial persons to take the challenge of doing business without bothering about liabilities getting to the personal assets as compared to that of Sole-proprietorship or partnership firms. OPC framework provides a legal structure that allows a single person to own and manage a company, providing flexibility for small businesses and entrepreneurs.
- ❖ The Companies Act, 2013, recognizes the unique nature of OPCs and provides certain exemptions and relaxations, including the exemption from holding Annual General Meetings (AGMs).
- ❖ OPCs are required to hold Board Meetings instead of AGMs to discuss and approve key matters, such as financial statements, appointment of auditors, declaration of dividends, and overall performance review.
- ❖ Annual filing for One Person Companies is essential to ensure compliance with legal requirements. While OPCs enjoy certain exemptions, understanding the filing process, deadlines, and nuances is crucial. Adhering to these obligations not only maintains limited liability but also fosters transparency and good corporate governance.
- ❖ Mistakes during the company registration process can lead to delays in getting the Registration Certificate. It is recommended for promoter of the Company to hire a professional for incorporating a One Person Company as it is a complex process, which requires the preparation of various legal documents, such as the Memorandum and Articles of Association, and adherence to specific regulatory requirements.
- ❖ Wherever Company's name is printed, attached, or engraved, the words "One Person Company" must be placed in brackets beneath the company name. For example- ABC (OPC) Private Limited.
- ❖ Section 2(62) of Companies Act, 2013 states that an OPC refers to a company which has only one person as its member. As stated in Section 3(1)(c) of Companies Act, 2013 the One Person Company is a Private Company.
